The CT Podcast

The Community Transportation Podcast is a new information tool from the Community Transportation Association of America. Take a listen as CTAA Communications Director Scott Bogren discusses some facet of community and public transportation with experts in the field. The CT Podcast is a great way to learn about key issues, innovations, breaking news and fresh approaches. You can access the CT Podcast in two ways:

1. The CT Podcast Blog Page
2. Subscribe to the CT Podcast on iTunes.

Here’s who has joined the Podcast this month:

Americans For Transit's Andrew Austin

Just two weeks young, Americans For Transit (A4T) is dedicated to organizing and mobilizing transit riders.

Reconnecting America's Sasha Forbes

Two weeks ago, Reconnecting America released an excellent report, Putting Transit to Work in Main Street America: How Smaller Cities and Rural Places are Using Transit.

Treasure Valley Transit's Terri Lindenberg

CTAA’s 2012 Rural Community Transportation System of the Year is Treasure Valley Transit, an 8-county transit system serving Southwest Idaho.

Jarrett Walker, Author, Human Transit

Jarrett Walker, author of the book, Human Transit, as well as the Human Transit blog.

Transit Labs CEO Dag Gogue on Embracing Data, Analytics and Performance

Dag Gogue and Farhan Daredia of Transit Labs join the CT Podcast to talk big data, analytics and the most recent edition of DigitalCT Magazine — which included 25 pages of data infographics. According to Gogue, community and public transit need to embrace data’s positive influence on measuring outcomes, understanding trends and improving efficiency. “Data is a tool that can help make transit’s case here in Washington, or at state legislatures,” he notes, during the discussion.
