EXPO Visits the Land of Enchantment

The annual Community Transportation EXPO is your chance to join colleagues from around the nation in a setting dedicated to fresh ideas, innovative products and services, networking and learning. What better location than New Mexico, which is home to a diverse, innovative and thriving transit network that includes all modes of transit – from regional rail to regional rural transit, bus rapid transit to commuter-focused services. In fact, transit across the Land of Enchantment is as rich and varied as the state itself.

Appetizers — Mini-Conferences

Volunteer Transportation and Mobility Management

The theme of volunteer transportation and mobility management will run through all the programs and activities in this mini-conference. There will be presentations on specific issues – like different models of volunteer transportation, risk management and liability – but the focus will be on how volunteer transportation programs can fit into the framework of mobility management.

Tribal Transit Summit

MAP-21 is bringing about many changes to the world of Tribal Transit. Learn how these changes will impact your services and how to make the most of the enhanced tribal funding mechanism in Section 5311. Also discover new solutions to transit issues and share your insights and experiences with others.

To Go!

Community Transportation Roadeo

On Sunday, June 2, 2013, we will celebrate our 24th annual National Community Transportation Roadeo. As always, the event features the best community and public transportation drivers in the nation, followed by a banquet in their honor and awards to the top competitors. All EXPO participants are invited to attend and recognize not only the best drivers in the nation, but the invaluable role drivers play in community and public transportation.

General Sessions

Each year at EXPO, we feature two general sessions that offer wide-ranging, expansive discussion from recognized experts on key community and public transportation topics. Led by CTAA Communications Director Scott Bogren, these sessions provide insightful dialogue and often involve audience questions and participation. Current ideas for these sessions revolve around analyzing transit's success at the local level in ballot initiatives and how to translate that success in your community. The second session will examine reframing the value of transit and changing to way we highlight the outcomes transit engenders.

The 2013 Community Transportation Trade Fair will, as always, be the highlight of the EXPO. This is the most comprehensive collection of community transportation vendors, manufacturers and consultants assembled on an annual basis. This is your chance to meet the vendors, compare products and take an in-depth look at the newest products and services available for the community transportation industry.
